Andrea Honigsfeld & Maria G. Dove

Collaboration & Co-Teaching for English Learners

The proof is borne out by any assessment: our non-native speakers learn faster and achieve more when general ed teachers and EL specialists co-plan and co-deliver instruction in the very same classroom. The purpose of this workshop is to review, evaluate, and adapt seven co-teaching models through which EL specialists and general ed teachers can collaborate in the classroom.

Andrea and Maria can help you:

• Move toward a more integrated service delivery system to accommodate the needs of diverse English learners, to help all students meet national and state learning standards, and to enhance collaboration between EL and mainstream teachers.
• Select, adapt, and combine collaborative arrangements presented in the workshop that would be feasible for your own instructional situation, including specific types of classroom practices that work best in combination with various co-teaching models.

Who should attend this workshop

• EL and General Ed Teachers
• Literacy Coaches
• Special Services Providers
• School and District Administrators

About the Consultants

Andrea Honigsfeld, EdD, is a professor and Maria Dove, EdD, is an associate professor, both in the Division of Education at Molloy College, Rockville Centre, New York. Employing their extensive experience as EL specialists and TESOL teacher educators, they have published widely on effective education for English learners. They frequently provide professional development on teacher collaboration and inclusive approaches for instruction as well as on the Common Core State Standards and diverse learners.

Co-Teaching for English Learners
A Guide to Collaborative Planning, Instruction, Assessment, and Reflection
ISBN: 9781483390918

Collaboration and Co-Teaching
Strategies for English Learners
ISBN: 9781412976503

Collaboration and Co-Teaching for English Learners
A Leader’s Guide
ISBN: 9781452241968

For more information, email info@corwin.com